Full Slate of Independence Festivities

By Shawn Badgley

The Tri-Town will be bursting with red, white, and blue starting bright and early on Thursday, July 4 and running all weekend long.

Residents will exercise their freedom to run around in the middle of the street at the Mattapoisett Road Race on July 4. Founded in 1971, the race will cover five miles – not kilometers, mind you, because this is America, after all! – along the coastline and through the village, finishing at Shipyard Park. Although preregistration has closed, aspiring participants can still sign up on July 3 until 8:00 pm at Shipyard Park and from 7:30 to 8:30 am on the day of the race.

The starting gun – or its equivalent – will go off at 9:00 am. Throughout the history of the race, the Race Committee has given over $120,000 in awards to Tri-Town students who have been involved in running. Proceeds from this year's race will go to ORRHS senior athletes. The best spectators will be recognized for their efforts. For more information, see www.mattapoisettroadrace.com.

On the Cover: Happy Birthday, America! It's the 4th of July week, and the Tri-Town is bustling with the Marion Parade, the 4th of July Horse Show, Mattapoisett Road Race, Arts in the Park, and of course the return of the Fireworks to Silvershell Beach in Marion! There's lots of information on upcoming events in this week's edition, as well as a Summer Events guide on page 77.

faster pace, Marion's Fourth of July Parade will also start at 9:00 am on Thursday, running along Front and Spring Streets. Spectators are advised to arrive a bit earlier.

Marion will also put on its annual Horse Show on Thursday from 9:00 am to 4:00 pm at Washburn Park. Founded over 65 years ago, the Horse Show will feature State and Regional competitions. Local equestrians "are at the heart" of the event, according to the Horse Show organizers. The Mattapoisett Lions Club will provide the chow, but attendees may pack a picnic basket, as well. Open classes start at 9:00 am. Registration starts at 7:30 am on the morning of the show.

After residents recover on Friday, they can get right back to it on Saturday morning starting at 10:00 am at Bicentennial Park, when local artists and artisans exhibit their work – including ceramics, fibers, jewelry, paintings, prints, photographs, collages, bags, accessories,

Last but certainly not least, Marion is bringing back the Fireworks at Silvershell Beach after a massive fundraising effort across town erased bad memories of 2012's shortfall. The show starts at 9:00 pm, with a rain date of Sunday, July 7. Thousands will flock to the event, which will end the Tri-Town's Independence Day celebration in grand style.

Push for Historic Places in the Tri-Town

Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester Historical Commissions

By Joan Hartnett-Barry

The lighthouses at Ned's Point and Bird Island are listed on the National Register of Historic Places (NRHP), something that takes lots of time and effort to achieve. Currently, the Marion Historical Commission is working on adding three more places in town to the NRHP. Those include Minister's Rock, the First Congregational Church of Marion, and its chapel on Main Street (home to Penny Pincher's Exchange).

In Rochester, an application is in the works to place East Over Farm on the federal registry. Currently, Rochester has two other sites listed on the NRHP, one being the Old East Rochester Church and adjoining Woodside Cemetery, which is home to the Rochester Historical Society, and the North Rochester Church on North Street.

Mattapoisett has, aside from the lighthouse, the Old Grange Hall located on Route 6. There are no current plans for additional sites in Mattapoisett.

"This is a multiyear project," said Robert Jones, who is spearheading the Marion effort. "The application is very thorough and detailed, and it is a back and forth discussion with the commission."

After the original application was filed, Jones heard back from the NRHP, which asked additional questions. In the case of the First Congregational Church of Marion, they asked how many churches were in the town in 1841 and how many cemeteries are in the town.

"They want to get to know about us before they make a decision," said Jones.

According to Jones, the applicant works with the state historical commission, which approves it prior to submission to the federal level. Many towns are submitting more and more applications, which creates a

To Honor Lincoln and Our Country

This Mattapoisett Life

By Marilou Newell

Looking back through the veil of time to July 1863:

"Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee concentrated his army around Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, upon the approach of Union Gen. George G. Meade's forces. On July 1, Confederates drove Union defenders through Gettysburg to Cemetery Hill. The next day, Lee struck the flanks of the Union line, resulting in severe fighting at Devil's Den, Little Round Top, the Wheatfield, Peach Orchard, Culp's Hill and East Cemetery Hill. Southerners gained ground but failed to dislodge the Union host. On the morning of July 3rd, fighting raged at Culp's Hill with the Union regaining its lost ground. That afternoon, after a massive artillery bombardment, Lee attacked the Union center on Cemetery Ridge and was repulsed with heavy losses in what is known as Pickett's Charge. Lee's second invasion of the North had failed.

"51,000 soldiers from both armies were killed, wounded, captured or missing in the three-day battle. Four months after the battle, President Lincoln used the dedication ceremony for Gettysburg's Soldiers National Cemetery to honor the fallen Union soldiers and redefine the purpose of the war in his historic speech."

I reprint that excerpt from www.civilwar.org 150 years after the battle of Gettysburg colored the ground red with blood. Families lost everything dear to them, including one another as they found themselves on opposing sides. The memory descends the decades.

When visiting Gettysburg, where so much horror took place, one becomes overwhelmed by the quiet, as if a dome of silence encapsulates the space. Visitors speak in hushed tones and walk slowly. What do we absorb in this place of hallowed ground? Is it the enormity of what humans can do to one another in the name of their cause? Is it the lengths we will go to when our belief systems mandate the ultimate sacrifice? Or, in this case, was it the absolute necessity to crush a system that set one class of person aside for use as instruments of commerce: slavery for profit? Maybe it is all of these things combined.

The Civil War swept along every man, woman and child in its wake. It consumed our nation and through the throbbing pain of war brought about the end to commercial slavery in this country. Yes, there were many other nuances to the Civil War; yes, all slavery did not end completely when the North won, but it was the right beginning to its end. Amen.

As I read Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, spoken to commemorate that field of battle as a final resting place, the words are fresh if just a little stilted to my modern eyes and ears. However, they could be words spoken now in the Middle East, in the Sixties in Vietnam, in the Forties in France, Germany or the Pacific Islands. The words are to remind us "someone has given their all."

July 4, our American Independence Day, is another hallmark in human history purchased through bloodshed. I guess that is just the way we are built, physical battles versus verbal exchange. I wonder: Is that the only way to win? I don't know.

What I do know is that I'm proud of being American in spite of all our missteps, our sometimes over-zealous efforts to help other nations, our willingness to sacrifice our young for the freedom of oppressed people in other countries, and let's not forget, feeding disparate populations.

Each occasion we have to celebrate our great, young nation makes me ponder what the founders would think of us today. Would they be pleased with what we have done with the gift of freedom they fought so hard to bring about and preserve? I think so. Our nation is not perfect, but it is so much better than many other places around the globe. Can I get a witness?

Our experiment in self-governing continues. It should, in my opinion, continue to evolve and not stagnate due to apathy or a rigid inability to accept that changes may be needed. In our little town, we can exercise our right as American citizens by participating in government, helping to create an even better place to live. We just have to be willing to get involved.

And while thinking that change is important, I'm old-fashioned too. A few years ago, I took my dad to a Veteran's Day Celebration at Old Hammondtown School. Dad received the Bronze Star for his actions during the invasion of Normandy and subsequent participation in the liberation of France. I wish I knew more, but I don't. That bothers me. Due to a fire in Oklahoma at a federal records facility, hundreds of thousands of military documents were forever lost, including my dad's.

But that day at the school as Dad tried to follow along as the school band played patriotic music, while various speakers spoke of the sacrifices our military made, how they saved our way of life, with veterans dressed in their uniforms honoring those who never came home – Dad's tears flowed. He didn't understand everything, but he understood enough. And then one of the most moving speakers of the event came forward. George Randall recited extemporarily Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. It was breathtaking. His is the only speech I remember from that day and his evoked the grandest applause.

That Randall could so eloquently speak Lincoln's words and that the words could be so full of meaning even today moved me to tears. Yep, there we were: Dad and I, tearfully enjoying the experience, acknowledging heroes known and unknown. Thank you, George Randall, for that fond memory. Thank you also for making me think about Lincoln's words as never before, with deep appreciation of just what freedom has cost.

The 150th anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg is July 1 through 3. An excerpt from www.abrahamlincolnonline.org notes the following: "On June 1, 1865, Senator Charles Sumner commented on what is now considered the most famous speech by President Abraham Lincoln. In his eulogy on the slain president, he called it a 'monumental act.' He said Lincoln was mistaken that 'the world will little note, nor long remember what we say here.' Rather, the Bostonian remarked, 'The world noted at once what he said, and will never cease to remember it.'" family and friends. Lincoln would be proud of that. It is, after all, what our American Dream is all about – living peaceful lives as we pursue our hopes, dreams and opportunities. It is called freedom. Although we citizens of this great country are divided in many ways, I think we'd agree that President Lincoln got it right in the Gettysburg Address:

"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in Liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

"But, in a larger sense, we can not dedicate – we can not consecrate – we can not hallow – this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work, which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us – that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion – that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain – that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom – and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Chairman Margie Baldwin had asked the Board of Selectmen to consider cutting down two maple trees that were, in the Committee's estimation, restricting potential growth for replanting flower beds on the grounds. There were also questions pertaining to the trees' health, but no conclusive studies had been conducted.

Some town residents responded in a flurry of emails, letters and phone calls to the Selectmen, the Tree and Parks Committee and local media.

The "maples are not in trouble other than waiting for an untimely and unnecessary death for the sake of a garden," wrote Sue Maxwell Lewis in a letter to the Selectmen. "Please stop and think this through."

The tree removal would have required a public

NEW PUPPY

I got a new puppy and he is biting me like mad. I say "no bite" but it isn't working. Any suggestions?

Congratulations on your new puppy. Once he gets to 5 months of age the annoying sharp baby teeth fall out so the problem disappears. In the meantime, puppies play using their mouths so the bites you are getting are not malicious in intent. Two main suggestions: play dates with other dogs to wear your puppy out. They have energy that they need to disperse and playing with another dog every other day or so is the easiest way to accomplish this. Part two, is that your puppy probably doesn't care what it is chewing on so substitute a toy for your hand. Rawhides, beef bones, ropes, tough soft puppy toys all may work well. Throw a ball for the puppy to fetch. He wants to play and you just need to divert his attention to something other than your hand.

hearing; a fact that Baldwin said has been lost in the exchange.

"We weren't making a unilateral decision by any stretch of the imagination," Baldwin said. "We were asking for input from the Selectmen, and that didn't happen. The email was read at their last meeting – apparently this is the policy – and I had no idea about this, nor was I asked to attend."

Selectmen Chairman Steve Cushing said at the meeting that any decision should wait for public input. Upon receiving a good deal of it, Selectman Jody Dickerson confirmed that he "had been informed by the Tree and Parks Committee that they are not moving forward," according to Board Secretary Debbie Paiva.

"I'm happy," said resident Annie Rockwell, who had objected to the removal. "The trees did nothing wrong. Cutting down trees is not what a Tree Committee is supposed to do. Public input is what the Selectmen asked for, and that's what they got. I hope they don't revisit this in the future."

Baldwin said that the issue had been misconstrued, and readily accepted its resolution.

"I understand people are sensitive about trees," she said. "God knows I am. We've done a lot for the town, and for us to be painted as villains isn't fair. I feel badly that it got out of hand, and the trees aren't going anywhere."

The next Board of Selectmen meeting is scheduled for July 9.

The Selectmen's questions revolved around concern over the applicants' ability to handle different types of vessels, as well as their willingness to be on-call and to be fully devoted to the job during boating season. The job's busy season is from early May to late October, when most boating activity takes place.

the position, with officials saying that the Mattapoissett Marine Advisory Board had previously narrowed the group of three down from a group of 11. Ultimately, the decision of whom to hire is up to the Board of Selectmen.

"It goes to the quality of the top three people," said Alan Gillis, Chairman of the Marine Advisory Board.

The group hopes have someone in the position by July 15.

Appointments and Contracts on Agenda

Rochester Board of Selectmen

By Nick Walecka

The Rochester Board of Selectmen ruled on a number of issues Monday evening, including an approval of the appointment of two reserve police officers to part-time status and the approval of several town employee contracts for the next three years.

Police Chief Paul Magee was on hand to introduce the two officers – Officers Jason Denham and Nathan Valente (both of Rochester) – to the Board, who ultimately signed off on their newly appointed status.

Magee said they've each been with the force for some time now, working details and the like, and they have both completed the training required to serve on the Department.

The Board also approved the reappointment and contracts for the town's Treasurer, Assistant Treasurer, Accountant, Assistant Accountant, and the Police and Fire Chiefs.

According to Town Administrator Richard LaCamera, the contracts include brand new job descriptions for each of the employees, and also include the same cost of living increases that were approved at the last town meeting.

Also approved were changes to the contracts of the entire Police Department, which includes a change to the former sick-day policy, which allowed for the accrual of sick time and subsequent "cashing in" of that sick time at the end of expiring contracts.

"We've cleaned [the contracts] up quite a bit,"

Town Counsel Blair Bailey said.

"We're ending that practice [of the cashing out of sick time]. The goal is to still benefit the employee when they need the sick time, but to avoid that burden for the town."

LaCamera also discussed the status of several construction projects in the town, both present and future.

He said that the current Town Hall project "is coming along very nicely," and that three sides of the building are done, as well as the installation of new furnaces and air conditioners.

As for projects at the Council on Aging and Police Station, he said that they were currently "stop and start" because of the amount of rain of late, but that they hope to be completed very soon.

"They're hoping to get them done tomorrow and Wednesday if the weather holds up," he said.

He also touched on future repairs to the Fire Station, which are set to take place in the upcoming months.

The project "seems to be good as far as I'm concerned," LaCamera said. "A lot of the work is being done by call firefighters who are carpenters and electricians."

LaCamera also went over various expenditures included in the Capital Funding Project, including the sale of a tractor/mower to offset the costs of repairing the town's other two. They were also approved to purchase a new one in September of 2012, which will cost the town $99,000, and which has already been included in the town's budget.

Others include the purchase of a nine-passenger van for the COA, which is currently in use, as well as changes to the Plumb Library.

"If you look at the Capital Project overall, we're in very, very good shape," LaCamera said. "Everything is going great."

LaCamera also noted that because of the holiday, recycling for Thursday, July 4, will not be picked up until July 11, and that trash will be collected on Saturday instead of Friday. He also noted that the town's offices closed on July 4 and 5.

Finally, the Board officially announced the resignation of Derek Medeiros from the Old Rochester Regional School Committee. They added that letters of interest for the open position be addressed to the Board, which will appoint someone temporarily until the election in September.

underbrush and ground cover, and the replacement of vegetation as shown on their submitted landscape design plan. The parcel is 6.5 acres.

The applicant was represented by David Davignon of N. Douglas Schneider & Associates, Chris Dindal of Morgan Wheelock, Inc. and Jim Manganello of LEC Environmental. The parcel has a delineated wetland in the middle of the property and a second, fingerlike wetland on the property. Essentially, there are two isolated vegetative wetland systems on both sides of the proposed driveway.

Davignon broke the discussion into nine sections, some with sub-sections, and described the proposed activities in each, which included removing a large number of trees, some located in the wetland areas.

"This is a complex project," said Davignon. According to Davignon, the property owners want to extend the water view from the property and beautify the driveway entrance. The property has a rolling lawn to a pier in Planting Island Cove.

The Commission asked questions and discussed the project with the three representatives. The Commission wanted more details on a proposed footpath, any grading to be done, a perennial stream on the property, and where the septic system would be located.

"Even fallen trees in a wetland provide habitat," Commissioner Norm Hills said.

"There's no grading shown on the plan,"

The Commission closed the hearing and agreed to revisit the property and asked the applicant's representatives to provide the missing information. The hearing was continued to July 24 at 7:20 pm.

Next up was a Notice of Intent for Warren P. Williamson IV and Lee H. The home would be constructed 100 feet away from a wetland, and some of the deck is within the buffer zone. The property is located in an AE 15 flood zone. The Commission discussed a proposed path to a common path used by golf carts, which connects to the communal pier. The applicant proposes to put two-foot-wide planks on 2x4s sitting on concrete blocks over the wetland area.

The Commission asked Davignon to reset the flags outlining the wetlands for another visit to the site by the Commissioners. The public hearing then closed.

In other business, the Commission held a public hearing for Ann Iannuzzi of 9 Shellheap Road for a Notice of Intent to eradicate phragmites, Japanese knotweed, Asiatic bittersweet and other invasive plant species. Susan Nilson of CLE Engineering represented the applicant. The area is adjacent to the retaining ponds at Silvershell Beach.

"My client plans to do the work in late summer or early fall, after the phragmites have bloomed," Nilson said. No replacement plantings are planned for the area at this time.

The Commission announced that they are seeking to fill a vacancy for an Associate Member of the Conservation Commission. Interested applicants should contact the Town House at 508-748-3560.

Town Parcel Tops Short Meeting

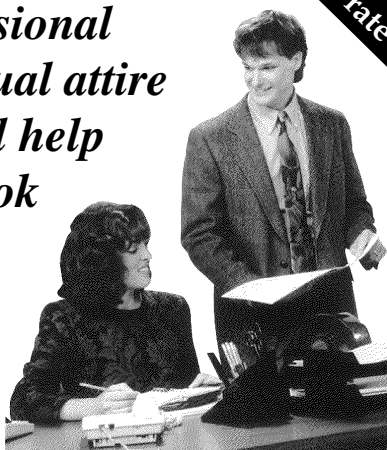

Mattapoisett Planning Board

By Marilou Newell

Not unlike driving through a small town where blinking could mean you'll miss it, the same could have been said of the Mattapoisett Planning Board's meeting on Monday night. With only one item to handle and that one being more technical than anything else, things moved quickly.

Robert Field of Field Engineering representing the Town of Mattapoisett came before the Board to have them approve revisions for plot plans on Brandt Island Road, Lot #5 Assessors' Map #14. The town owns the parcel, and it was intended that an abutter purchase the lot to extend their space. However, the town needs to allow for public process. Therefore, the lot will be explicitly Bonnie DeSouza was the only resident present. She was invited to ask any questions she might have. She said she wanted to know the status of any progress or movement regarding plans on rezoning portions of Route 6. Board member Ron Merlo said he had not yet reached out to SRPEDD to get the information gathered thus far on this long-term project.

Before DeSouza departed, the members asked for an update on the Bike Path plans. She said she was hopeful that plans would be before the Board of

Keel Awards

The Wanderer is once again pleased to announce we are now soliciting nominations for our 20th annual "Wanderer Keel Awards." The yearly community service honor – which is presented to one resident from each of the three central towns in our circulation area – will be announced in our July 25 issue, and each winner will be the subject of a short feature highlighting their contributions to the local community. But The Wanderer needs your help in selecting these "unsung heroes."

The requirements are simple. Nominees must be legal residents, for at least five years, of Mattapoissett, Marion or Rochester and must have contributed in some way to the overall benefit of the community – either directly to town residents, or indirectly through efforts in promoting town activities, or working to keep the wheels of local government well oiled. The only restriction is that these persons cannot benefit from their efforts in any other way – either financially or politically (hence, sitting elected officials are not eligible).

In doing this, we hope to applaud those who are rarely recognized for their countless hours of service and focus on the many people "behind the scenes" who remain otherwise anonymous but provide crucial support to many town functions. Like the keel of a ship, which keeps the vessel from capsizing, the recipients of the Annual Wanderer Keel Award will be recognized for their stalwart efforts in keeping the community on an "even keel."

To the Editor:

In your recent Wanderer issue (Vol. 22, Issue 25, Nr. 1056), Letters to the Editor, Mr. Robert Brown expressed his support for the Mattapoisett Community Tennis Association (for those enjoying tennis) and mentioned the Mattapoisett Lions Club, among others, as being public service organizations.

He goes on to say "the Lions Club had changed its focus to supporting eye research only."

Mr. Brown, were you at the Town Beach this past week when Lion members prepared and served hot dogs and popcorn to beachgoers, did you notice the roof repairs on the shade sheds at the beach, were you aware of the turkey dinners provided to our senior citizens

To the Editor:

Wow. I am still so amazed and excited by the incredible support shown by the community for Sippican's Band Blast. Over 100 volunteers worked before, during and after the Blast to pull it off. I can't thank Chris and Kelly Horton and their crew from Harbor

Blue Seafoods enough for the delicious barbecue. Tom Strom and Kool Kone are always there to help Sippican and that was true at the Blast, too. Lockheed Martin generously donated Red Sox tickets that were raffled off to a lucky winner. Pilgrim Bank, Shaw's, Cape Cod Shipbuilding, The Wave, Stop and Shop and Lowe's all contributed valuable elements to the night. Many thanks to the Marion Town Police for keeping us safe and to the Department of Public Works for filling the dunk tank. A special shout-out goes to DJs David Craig and Chuck Vieira for making the night so much fun.

Special recognition goes to my fellow music teacher, Patty Richard, art teacher, Erin Kirk, and the fabulous custodial staff for working like crazy behind the scenes to make Band Blast a reality. Also, many thanks go to so many other teachers who joined the fun, especially the boss. What's more fun than dunking the principal?

Band Blast raises money to support the music program at Sippican; the music program and the Blast are all about the young performers. These boys and girls did an incredible job playing on that windy night and I am so proud of them.

Wishing all of the band a great summer and keep practicing!

Thanks again to everyone for coming out,

Proud Ghosts of Point Connett

In memory of Jill
By Rudd Wyman

Editors note: This story has been serialized into six parts which will have appeared weekly in The Wanderer and is available on wanderer.com

Part VI

Responding to a solid whack on my shoulder – hopefully not Hanky – I hug my friend, Dave Barker.

"One more set and I'd have cleaned your clock," I tell him, and Dave laughs. We had some exciting tennis matches, and I often wondered if Dave and Jill juggled cupid's arrows. The distant memories keep coming back.

Dave's father, Hump, owned a 34-foot yawl, Barkeroll. Dave, Jack, and I sailed to the Vineyard for the annual Edgartown Regatta, a party weekend with a traditional Yacht race. After leading one hour into the race, we either lost our bearings, made a wrong turn, or had too many beers, and several boats followed. We did not know where we were, but Captain Dave made up for it with speed. Later, after several beers and apologies, everyone laughed.

I learned a valuable lesson on this voyage. While Jack slept, I filled his nearly empty beer can with salt water. Awakening, Jack took a slug, retched, spit, and reached for his "shoot a frisky shark" gun. Dave grabbed him around the neck, saving my life. Fortunately, Hump sold Barkeroll before three disillusioned argonauts formulated plans to join the New York to Bermuda Race, with or without loaded guns.

Memories of this Point Connett reunion will be treasured. The time is getting late, and I need to find Jill, luau alumnus and my favorite twin.

After Jack's early death, Jill and I became Point Connett's hooligan twins. With a bear hug, she kept me grounded on the stone pier as I fought and landed a seven-foot blue shark on a spinning rod. During the war, we exchanged Morse code messages by flashlight from facing bedroom windows. We were competitive: three-legged and potato sack races, tennis, Monopoly, beer-drinking games, and Go-Fish.

I used to kid Jill that anyone over 35 faces health issues. Now, with her snow-white hair and pushing the Cadillac of streamlined walkers, I find Jill chatting with June, another luau alumnus. June is escorted by Henry Wiggington – Hanky winks at me and says, "Maybe next year, Rudd, and keep up your writing."

I wish Hanky a happy life, give Jill a long overdue hug, and ask her if June is a volleyball fan.

Jill replies, "You should have asked Hanky if June plays volleyball."

"Hanky lies," I say, but why should anyone care about an entirely plausible relationship? "Go-Fish," Jill says, with a huge contagious smile.

It is important to spend quality time with my hooligan twin in this special place where mischievous behavior ignited exposure during our parents' generation. Jill's potato sack and three-legged marathons are history. With a few health problems of my own, including a couple of urgent visits to overcrowded ER rooms, we could discuss our medical issues. Definitely, I am proud of Jill for not belaboring a happy reunion with hospital talk.

"We've had good summers, Rudd, but why did your Mom accuse me of driving her car off of Redman's Pier?"

Not wanting to destroy a mysterious moment, I ventured that my Mom did teach me to drive in a straight line.

The fact is that neither of us was driving. When Oman discovered us on the following morning of the late-night party, we were asleep next to Mom's Pontiac, with its front wheels buried in the sand. After a wet smooch from Guntha, I envisioned the inevitable music of facing our parents, who had the Police looking for two hooligans in two states.

Jill, "Is that really what happened?"
"Go-Fish!"

August 15, 2011

Many proud ghosts of this and past generations have left treasured footprints in the Point Connett sand.

I had hoped to read this Essay to Jill, being cared for in a Marion nursing home. However, I did not get there in time.

Today, Jill is sailing on a great white cloud hopefully with caring angels, telling her to, "Go-Fish!"

TriTOWN HAPPENINGS

Lisa Winsor, of Mattapoisett, is a cancer survivor and a Pan-Mass Challenge cyclist who was honored by the Boston Red Sox on Saturday, June 29 during PMC Night at Fenway Park. Winsor was among the cancer survivors who rode her bike around the warning track in a pre-game ceremony during which the PMC's 34th anniversary logo was unveiled on the Green Monster. On August 3 and 4, together with 5,500 cyclists, Winsor will ride up to 190 miles across Massachusetts in the Pan-Mass Challenge charity bike-a-thon. Now in its 34th year, the Pan-Mass Challenge is a pioneer of the athletic fundraising industry and today raises more money for charity than any other single athletic event in the country. This year's goal is to raise $38 million for adult and pediatric patient care and cancer research at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute. The PMC is a model of fundraising efficiency as it contributes 100 percent of every rider-raised dollar directly to the cause. This is the 11th year that the Boston Red Sox Foundation is the presenting sponsor of the Pan-Mass Challenge. Photo by Danny George

MOVIE REVIEW

In The End

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

This Is the End.* Starring Seth Rogen and James Franco. Directed by Seth Rogen and Evan Goldberg. Running time: 106 minutes. MPAA rating: R.

In the opening half hour of This Is the End, Hollywood loses about 90% of its thirtysomething comedic talent. James Franco, playing himself, is throwing a big party at his L.A. home, and anyone who's anyone is invited. Seth Rogen and Jay Baruchel, also playing themselves, decide to head on over. The party, though, is interrupted by gaping hellmouths and rampaging demons. The end, indeed, seems to be nigh — in downtown L.A., various people are raptured away in beams of blue light. Among the survivors are Franco, Rogen, Baruchel, Jonah Hill, and Craig Robinson, all holed up in Franco's not terribly well-fortified fortress, waiting for rescuers who never come.

The comedy of that first half hour rests largely on watching various sitcom players and/or one-time Judd Apatow cast members falling into the abyss. The remainder of This Is the End pits the increasingly unhinged survivors against each other as they fight over water rationing or territorial rights to a porn magazine. It's funny in a lazy let's-get-a-group-of-dudes-together-and-have-fun way that reminded me strongly of the '80s comedy-movie aesthetic, particularly some of the Cheech & Chong films. Like those films, This Is the End was made for stoners by stoners; as in most everything Seth Rogen has appeared in, vast quantities of weed are toked, as well as copious intake of cocaine and ecstasy. At one point, Franco and Rogen sit around and brainstorm a sequel to their cannabis hit Pineapple Express; later, they and the other bored survivors actually film it on Franco's camcorder left over from 127 Hours.

Bits of everyone's filmographies come in for ruthless mockery, except maybe for the serenely sarcastic Craig Robinson, who has one note — he always seems to be raising a bemused eyebrow to the camera even when he isn't — but plays it well. When party-crasher Danny McBride enters the scenario, and, earlier, when an axe-wielding Emma Watson joins in, the movie has an entertaining randomness. It sags a bit, though, when we're just watching everyone squabble over the rapidly depleted supplies, and that takes up a good chunk of the film. Still, these guys are amiably stupid company, and Jay Baruchel, who lacks the name recognition of his co-stars, emerges as the movie's unlikely hero and moral center.

As a potentially cameo-heavy Hollywood satire, This Is the End is disappointingly front-loaded, though a couple of surprise appearances near the end earn the big laughs they get. The movie cost around $32 million but mainly stays indoors; most of the money, I gather, went into the destruction effects and the shadowy hell-beasts who pop up here and there, chasing the guys around or visiting Jonah Hill in his bed. I would've liked more outdoor movement; there's only so much boredom and annoyance one can watch before one becomes bored and annoyed. Past a certain point, the novelty of hanging out with comedians goofing around shades into irritation at watching rich people goofing around, and This Is the End crosses the line a couple of times.

Essentially, the movie is too self-amused to be truly inspired or gonzo, considering this premise and this cast — especially the cast it wastes in cough-and-a-spit roles, like Aziz Ansari, Kevin Hart, and Mindy Kaling. Also, self-parody may come a little too easily to a meta-actor like James Franco, who was probably funnier on General Hospital as a psycho artist named Franco. (Half the fun of a comedy like this is actors playing against expectation, but aside from Emma Watson we don't really get that. Seth Rogen is pretty much the Seth Rogen you'd figure he'd be, and so on.) But the movie's very self-amusement makes it go down easy, and it'll make a decent Netflix streaming choice in a few months. It'll sit comfortably on the shelf next to Cheech & Chong's Nice Dreams or Next Movie (though C&C's masterpiece, Things Are Tough All Over, occupies a higher shelf alongside The Man With Two Brains and Top Secret). Don't file it with the apocalyptic flicks, though: The Day After Tomorrow, 2012 and World War Z are (inadvertently) funnier.

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Don't be Sheepish about asking questions and demanding answers. You not only gain needed information, but also respect for your steadfast search for the truth.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A money problem that shows up early in the week is expeditiously resolved by savvy Bovines who know how to turn a momentary financial lapse into a monetary gain.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) It's a good time to shed negative energy-draining forces and develop a positive approach to handling current, as well as upcoming, personal and/or professional situations.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Your urge to do your best on a current task is commendable. But don't let it become all-consuming. Spend some spiritually restorative time with those who love you.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) This could be a good time for all you Leos and Leonas to take your bows for your recent achievements and then go off to enjoy some fun times with your prides and joys.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A negative response to a well-intentioned suggestion could communicate a sense of distrust you might later find hard to refute. Think carefully before reacting.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your loving attention comforts a family member who is feeling a bit out of sorts. But be careful to prioritize your time so you don't neglect your work duties.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Your curiosity might be resented by some. But those who know you will support your penchant for never settling for less than the truth. So stay with it.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A pesky situation from the past recurs, albeit in an altered form. Deal with it promptly before it can go from merely irksome to decidedly troublesome.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Don't wait too long to submit your proposals after giving them a last look-over. If necessary, you should be able to defend any portion called into question.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A bid to use your workplace dispute-settling skills in another situation is tempting. But be careful: You might not have all the facts you'll need if you agree to do it.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) That sense of self-doubt is so untypical of you, you should have no qualms in shaking it off. Remind yourself of all you've done and can do, and then do it again.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your ability to charm others without sacrificing sincerity is what makes people want to follow your leadership.

Plumb Library News

With his zany style and participatory humor, Michael Zerphy has captivated audiences across the United States and Europe. This is a show for general audiences: a family concert of clowning and fun for all. Michael creates a world that continually surprises the audience, a world in which the ordinary becomes magical and failure is turned into success. Music, juggling, a wide variety of props, and even the audience are included in this versatile show, "Zany Acts" which is appropriate for all ages.

"Michael Zerphy is a clown, but he's no Bozo. He takes his clowning around very seriously," said The Boston Globe.

This show will take place on July 15 at 3:00 pm outside at the gazebo (inside if it rains). For more information, contact the Library at 508-763-8600 or email info@plumblibrary.com. Don't miss it!

This program is sponsored by the Public Library Fund through the MA Board of Library Commissioners.

Once again, Plumb Library is joining libraries across the country in this year's Summer Reading

Marion Town Party Date Set

The Marion Recreation Department, in conjunction with the Marion Firefighters Association, once again is proud to announce the date for the Marion Town Party. The event will be held on August 24 (rain date, August 25). The party will take place at its traditional location on Spring Street in front of the Marion Town House. Festivities will begin at 4:00 pm.

A cherished Marion community tradition, this year's event will feature a climbing rock wall, bubble bounce, dunk tank, music, bake sale, bonfire and more. Seasonal menu items and beverages are planned. Admission will be free.

Proceeds will be distributed between the Marion Firefighters Association and Marion Recreation to benefit local community needs. Marion Firefighters plan to use proceeds to provide new thermal imaging equipment for the Marion Fire Department, while Marion Recreation plans to use funds for the construction of playground facilities at Washburn Park.

Organizers are seeking donations from the community to help underwrite the event. Food, raffle prizes, services, bake sale items, cash or any other in-kind donation would be greatly appreciated. All contributions are tax deductible.

Please plan to attend with your friends and family to help make this community event a success.

I Found the Aardvark!

Each week, hidden somewhere in the pages of The Wanderer is a tiny drawing of an aardvark. The little guy you are looking for looks exactly like the one pictured above (but don't put down this page as your answer, there's another one hidden somewhere in this issue).

Once you find the aardvark you can submit your answer online and if you are right you will get Aardvark Points! You can then use these points to get cool Aardvark Prizes!

To enter visit: www.wanderer.com and Click on I Found the Aardvark
In the June 27, 2013 issue the Aardvark was on page 8!
